We must be told why, except upon the above hypothesis, no increase of dividends or surplus has taken place since consolidation, though there is a reported increase

We must be shown how the present reckless and ex-travagant management is to get on without still another loan, or a speedy reduction of dividends, so long as the monthly returns continue to show a steady decrease of passenger travel—the only profitable branch of the

We spall ask to be satisfied that the $400,000 or $500,000 which appears by the State Engineer's report to be annually smuggled from the expense and depreciation account to that of construction (thereby enabling the compacy to declare their eight per cent dividends) can in ome way be provided for, now that their total available neans are exhausted.

fully and satisfactorily adjusted, and the management of the New York Central" changed from one of incompetency, extravagance, and reckless personal emolument to one of integrity, honesty and fair dealing, the Henald will not "take back" what it has said of this rotten corporation, but will award such credit as may seem due to penitence and reform. The past belongs to history. Even repentance cannot blot it out. We cannot forget transactions which blacken the record of the Central Railroad Company. Will the thousands of small stockholders whose interests were placed in keeping of the Central direction forget that $2,000,000 of their property have been extracted from them by the jugglery of consolida-tion? Shall the Vice President's sale of real estate in Buffalo, to the President, by which a clean profit of $60,000 at the company's expense was realized. fail to go down to posterity? Shall we dismiss from re-collection how adroitly directors in the old companies sold out their stock immediately upon consolidation, at about 120 per cent, realizing over 700 per cent upon their original investments, and then secretly turned bears upon the same steek? Can we torget the stapendous cheat by which all railroads, possible and impossible, real and fictitious of every grade of worthlessness, were swallowed by consolidation for the advantage of the knowing ones, and at the expense of the crowd of stornholders who had no hand in the game? Is the fetid political corruption in which the consolidation scheme was concocted, a thing to be no more remembered? Are we to shut our eyes to the relentless control which the Central corporation exarches over the legislation of the State, crushing out honcesty and independence with its iron folds?

We have referred to a few of the reasons which prevent us from "taking back" what we have said respecting "the New York Central." Its history, from the inception of consolidation, has been a series of outrages upon tion of commissation, has been a series of outrages upon every sentement of financial honor. That even this cor-rupt company may not, under other direction and better one in the future a more worthy course, we shall not undertake to sey. It is said that the gree sinner may reform; and herein lies the only hope that the HERALD can ever speak well of the New York Central. Our cotemporary is welcome to make the most of it. Should that improbable contingency occur, of which not a glimmering indication has yet appeared, we shall be, as we always are, ready to do full and exact justice in

SPECIAL NOTICES.

AN APPRAL TO THE PUBLIC.—THE LIFE SAVING Benevolent Association of New York was formed and chariered in 1889, its objects being to proque life boats and station houses, with materials for saving life in cases of alizaveck, to encourage meritorious conduct by granting therefor medials and pecuniary rewards.

Through the liberality of Congress, numerous life boat stations have been established in the shores of Long Island and New Jersey, by which more than 1,700 persons have been rescued from impeeding death. Without these means of escape, the dreadful tragedy of the Mexico and Sristol would have been repeated. The immense and constantly increasing connacree of this port demands of the citizens of this emportum the most comprehensive plas and effective means for saving the lives of
